SUCCESS STORY

CUSTOMER: Clio High School
PROJECT: Media center, gaming lab, coffee shop
LOCATION: Clio, MI
INDUSTRY: K-12 Education
SIZE: 4 ,647 sq. ft.

When textbooks went digital, Clio's library was left with half-empty shelves and heavy wooden tables. Administrators wanted one destination that could handle lessons, lunchtime e-sports, and a student-operated cafe - all while showing off bright Bronco orange. DBI answered with a zoned plan and Haworth furnishings that students can rearrange on their own.

THE CHALLENGE

Replace static furniture and tall bookcases with pieces that roll, flip, or nest so staff can supervise the entire floor. The 4,647-square-foot space also had to support four distinct uses - study, lounge, gaming, and a student-run cafe - without dulling school spirit or breaking the budget.

- Flexible Furniture
- Functional Design
- Desirable Destination

THE SOLUTION

FLEXIBLE CLASSROOM SPINE:

Haworth Jive flip-nest tables pair with Maari side chairs and stools. Rows collapse to pods in under a minute, letting teachers pivot from lecture to teamwork.

LOUNGE & STUDY NOOKS:

Curved Riverbend high-back sofas outline a quiet reading bay, while Resonate modular lounge, Openest Chick Poufs, and Pip laptop tables dot informal corners. Low backs keep sight-lines clear.

POWERED GAMING BENCHES:

An Intuity bench with concealed power teams with Fern executive chairs so e-sports players get plug-and-play ergonomics.

“THE STABLE” COFFEE BAR:

Pop-Up cafe tables, Maari barstools, and an orange-accent counter create a micro-cafe. Two ottomans add perch seating that slides wherever the crowd gathers.

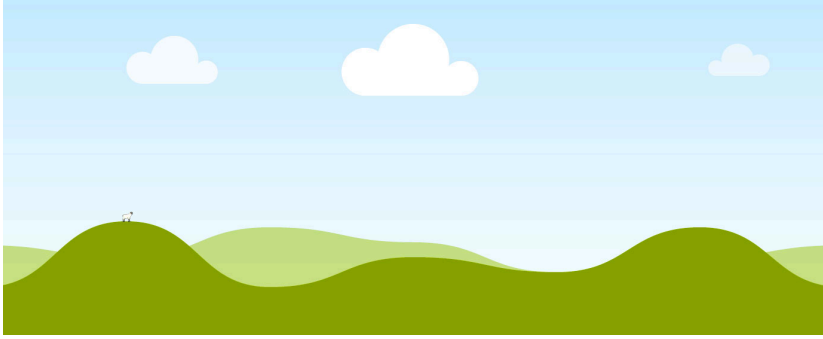

MOBILE STORAGE & DISPLAY:

X-Series and Master Series bookcases hold the pared-down print collection and serve as low dividers between zones.

DESIGNER'S PERSPECTIVE

We turned an outdated library into a modern media center – flexible, collaborative, and on-brand. We used bold colors, tiered seating, and a variety of layouts to make sure the space could adapt to however students want to use it. It really came together, and I think it's going to make a huge difference for them.
